UTLEY'S ESCAPE

The Story Told Yesterday by a Prisoner in the Jail.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., February 4.—
E. J. Utley, who yesterday escaped from lall, has not been caught It will be rejail, has not been caught. It will be re-membered that Utley had been sentenced to twenty years in the pententiary for the killing of hotel Clerk Hollingsworth. The sheriff has wired all the large cities offering a reward of $400.

The sheriff has wired all the large cities offering a reward of $400.

George Maxwell, a prisoner in the jail with Utley, makes a remarkable statement. He swears that about $:30 o'clock on the night of the escape, Utley, when in the corridor, gave him $50, but did not say for what purpose; that about 10:30 o'clock a man entered his cell, pointed a pistol at him, and told him to keep still or he would kill him; that this man came from outside the jail, and had means of opening his cell and Utley's; that the man gave Utley keys, with which to open the jail doors, and that Utley did not creep through the hole at the bottom of the stalrway. The commissioners exonerate Sheriff Marsh and Depuiy Monaghan, and recommend the temporary suspension of Jalier Pate.

It is generally believed here that the escaped was lond and elborately planned; that money, of which the prisoner had no lack, was freely used, and that he left this part of the country, skillfully disguised and prepared for departure to foreign lands, Immediately after Utley's flight beno lack, was freely used, and that he left this part of the country, skilfully disguised and prepared for departure to foreign lands, Immediately after Utley's flight became known, Deputy Sheriff Monaghan had the other prisonors searched, and Delia Waddill, a negro woman, in a cell next to Utley, had in her possession a 310 bill, a bunch of Utley's keys and a letter from him addressed to a relative, embodying a power of attorney and bidding friends good-bye. Geoge Maxwell, another negro, who had access to the corridor opening on the tier of cells in small bills. Neither prisoher would talk. On the wall of Utley's cell was found a card with this inscription: "Life is but a vapor that vanished. There were several sensational rumors yesterday—one that the prisoner escaped last Friday night, and that the matter had been kept secret; another that the other day he received a mysterious package, supposed to contain keys and other implements for effecting this escape. Deputy Sheriff Monaghan explodes both these reports as absolutely false.

Posses were scouring the surrounding country all yesterday and last night, and telegrams were sent to the police of prominent towns and citles. The Board of County Commissioners are conducting a vigorous investigation of the matter, and have offered a reward of $400 for the apprehension, while Sheriff Marsh offers $200 individually.

None of Those Reached Would Talk, But Negotiations Are Believed to Have Been About Completed. What It Means.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, February 4.—Information from semi-official sources to-day shows that an alliance or syreement of some sort has been entered into between the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Railon the one hand, and the Rock Island Railway, on the other hand.

Just what stage the negotiations have reached or the character of the alliance are matters of conjecture as yet, as none reached or the character of the alliance are matters of conjecture as yet, as none of the principals interested are willing to go into details. The matter has been under negotiation for some time, and most of the important points have been agreed on. An official announcement is looked for in a few days.

SOMETHING IN WIND.

An official of the Rock Island Company, after conferring with Daniel Reid, said there was something in the wind. President Leeds, of the Rock Island, is now in the West, but is expected back shortly, Messers. Reid and Leeds are reported to have represented the Rock Island Company, together with ex-Judge Moore, in the company's negotiations with Union and Southern Pacific interests. Judge Moore is president of the Rock Island's Finance Committee.

BACKED BY THE BANK.

It is a matter of common belief in Wall Street that the parties now in control of Rock Island are being backed by the First National Bank; in fact, one or more officials of that institution, including Vice-President Francis L. Hine, are represented in the Rock Island directory. The First National is one of the several so-called Morgan banks. Kuhn, Loeb and Company are the fiscal representatives of practically all the Harriman properties, so that any deal between Rock Island and the leading Pacifics must inevitably involve a closer understanding between what have at times been somewhat hostile interests.

WASHINGTON, February 4.—The general debate on the postoffice appropriation bill was enlivened to-day by an interesting discussion on the tariff question. It was participated in by Mr. Sibley, of Pennsylvania; Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, and Mr. Griggs, of Georgia, Consideration of the postoffice bill in the Committee of the Whole was completed, but it was not passed. The annual attempt to strike out the appropriations for special mail facilities between Washington and New Orleans and Kansas City and Newton, Kan., was led this year by Mr. Talbert, of South Carolina, who followed up his modon, after it was defeated in Committee of Whole, by a motion in the House to commit the with instructions to eliminate the appropriation. This is designed to place the members on record. His motion was pending when the House adjourned.

Mr. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, attracted much attention by his remarks in reply to a speech of Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, last week on the subject of the tariff. In conclusion, he warned his side of the House that the people would hold the Republican party responsible after the history relative to the tariff had passed.
